This Pilot-friendly manual from ZD Publishing, Inc. covers all the models in the Aera series. The 795 includes the basic GPS for air and ground while the 796 adds support for NEXRAD imaging and other XM WXTM satellite weather capabilities along with SM Satellite Radio. It also comes with detailed terrain mapping. The 79X steps up to higher-resolution terrain graphics, detailed aviation with preloaded SafeTaxiÂ® charts and AOPA Airport Directory. It also includes built-in support for premium auto navigation and traffic features. The 795 combines high-resolution graphics with support for XM WXTM satellite weather capabilities. It also comes with preloaded SafeTaxiÂ® charts, and AOPA Airport Directory. The Table of Contents lists all the operations and pages in the unit. Find the operation you're interested in and go to that page to find step-by-step procedures to accomplish the task. Get up and running FAST! Although the manual from Garmin contains the official recommendations and is an excellent reference, this GPS manual from ZD Publishing is designed to be used in conjunction with the unit in actual use or Simulator Mode. This combination will safely lower your learning curve without the noise and distractions that accompany flying. ZD Publishing is your best source for a GPS manual for the popular aviation units manufactured by Garmin, Bendix/King, and Lowrance. Written for pilots by a CFI with over 45 years of experience who is ATP rated in both airplanes and helicopters. He also is an accomplished Flight, Simulator and Ground Instructor.
